DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1, 5, 7, 10 and 11 drawn to a control signal that overlays a recognizable pattern onto the video data, classified in class 713, subclass 178.
- II. Claims 12, 13, 14, 15, 39, and 40, drawn to hashing a selected portion of the video data and storing the portion of the video and the hash value in a memory and transmitting the hash value over a network for storage in a second memory, classified in class 713, subclass 181.
- III. Claims 16, 17, 31, 32, 37 and 38, drawn to implementing a recognition algorithm to identify objects, classified in class 713, subclass 189.
- IV. Claims 21, 22, 24, and 25 drawn to using an escrow agent to store the decryption key, classified in class 380, subclass 286.
- V. Claims 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 36, 41, 42, drawn to a sensor signal that varies depending on detection of objects in a vicinity, classified in class 380, subclass 210.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I, II, III, IV, and V are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I has separate utility such as adding recognizable patterns on video data. Subcombination II has separate utility such as hashing video data and making show the video has not been tampered with by checking if the hash values are the same. Subcombination III has separate utility such as identifying objects associated with the sensed images and embedding encrypted data information identifying the object in the output signal. Subcombination IV has separate utility such as encrypting video data and using an escrow agent to decrypt the data. Subcombination V has separate utility such as using different encryption key for encrypting the video signal and the sensor signal. All the subcombination do not require the limitations of the other subcombinations. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

The examiner has required restriction between subcombinations usable together. Where applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the election invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
